

STAFF

Virginia Libraries thanks the following individuals who served in the roles identified below through the end of 2014:

Editor

Beth DeFrancis Sun
Maternal and Child Health
Library
Georgetown University
2115 Wisconsin Ave., Suite 601
Washington, D.C. 20007
(703) 927-4668
defrancb@georgetown.edu

Assistant Editor

John Connolly
National Sporting Library and Museum
102 The Plains Road
Middleburg, VA 20118
(540) 252-9892
jconnolly@nsl.org

Editorial Board

Lydia C. Williams
Longwood University Library
Farmville, Virginia 23909
(434) 395-2432
williamslc@longwood.edu

Ed Lener

College Librarian for the Sciences
Virginia Tech University Libraries
P.O. Box 90001
Blacksburg, Virginia 24062-9001
(540) 231-9249
lener@vt.edu

Matthew Todd NOVA

3001 N. Beauregard St.
Alexandria, Virginia 22331
(703) 845-6033
mtodd@nvcc.edu

Adele Gardner

Hampton Public Library
4207 Victoria Blvd.
Hampton, Virginia 23669
(757) 727-1218
(757) 727-1151 (fax)
cgardner@hampton.gov

Communication and Technology Committee Chair

Tonia Graves
Old Dominion University
Perry Library
4400 Hampton Blvd.
Norfolk, Virginia 23529
(757) 683-4188
tgraves@odu.edu

Cover illustration by Brian Craig

Virginia Libraries

Vol. 61, 2015

COLUMNS

- Candice Benjes Small 3 From the Editors and Rebecca K. Miller 4 New Directions for *Virginia Libraries

FEATURES

- Ashley E. Faulkner 5 MOOCs and Libraries:
Many Hats, Many Questions
- Gene R. Springs 11 Just How Open? Evaluating the
"Openness" of Course Materials in Massive Open Online Courses
- Adelia Grabowsky 17 The Impact of Open Access on Collection Management
- Anita R. Walz 23 Open and Editable: Exploring
Library Engagement in Open
Educational Resource Adoption,
Adaptation and Authoring
- Craig Arthur 33 Predatory Publishing:
How Not To Fall Prey
- Molly Keener 37 Contextualizing Copyright:
Fostering Students' Understanding of Their Rights and Responsibilities as Content Creators

Virginia Libraries is an annual peer-reviewed journal published by the Virginia Library Association whose purpose is to develop, promote, and improve library and information services and the profession of librarianship in order to advance literacy and learning and to ensure access to information in the Commonwealth of Virginia.

The journal, distributed to the membership, is used as a vehicle for members to exchange information, ideas, and solutions to mutual problems in professional articles on current topics in the library and information field. Views expressed in Virginia Libraries are not necessarily endorsed by the editors or editorial board.

The Virginia Library Association firmly espouses open access principles and believes that authors should retain full copyrights of their work. The agreement between Virginia Libraries and the author is license to publish. The author retains copyright and thus is free to post the article on an institutional or personal web page subsequent to publication in Virginia Libraries. All material in the journal may be photocopied for the noncommercial purpose of educational advancement.

The print version of Virginia Libraries is designed by Lamp-Post Publicity in Meherrin, Virginia. The electronic version of Virginia Libraries is created by Virginia Tech's Digital Library and Archives and is available at <http://scholar.lib.vt.edu/ejournals/VALib> or as a link from the Virginia Library Association website (<http://www.vla.org>) and the Directory of Open Access Journals (<http://www.doaj.org/>). Virginia Libraries is indexed in Library Literature, a database produced by the H.W. Wilson Company.

Inquiries regarding membership, subscriptions, advertising, or claims should be directed to VLA, P.O. Box 56312, Virginia Beach, VA 23456.